Dogg's Our Pet

"Plank!" Charlie shouts out for the next piece. Is he calling out the name of the next piece, or is he just calling out - with the expectation that his partner knows what the next piece should be? Dogg's Our Pet is an opening ceremony where words don't mean what we think they mean, and the same word may not mean the same thing twice. Throw yourself into a world where rules of everyday language don't apply!

The Proposal

Acting is a challenging endeavor. However, choosing to direct "The Proposal" presented challenges of entirely different proportions. One day, Caitlin stopped rehearsal to share an epiphany: "I have it! Natalyia is really a zombie who wants to eat Lomov's brains!" Yes. It has been a long journey. But we have come out the other side with a splendid piece of comedy! I hope you enjoy!

The Twilight Zone: It's a Good Life

You are entering another dimension...

The idea of directing an episode of The Twilight Zone first came to me at the end of last year. Someone told me I should direct improv again and Raizin told me I should direct a One Act using only puppets. I thought a suitable middle ground between the two would be an episode of The Twilight Zone. Some may say these director's notes are just a waste of space. To them, I say, "YOU direct a one act! You see how smart it is! You big smart guy!"

Sganarelle, Or The Imaginary Cuckold

Sganarelle, or the Imaginary Cuckold is a farce written by Moliere in the mid 1600's. This production of the play is performed with the old Italian commedia dell'arte style, and it holds a lot of over the top situations and characters. It has everything you want in a play: romance, despair, and, most importantly, the disgruntled old man who thinks his wife is cheating on him. Everything in this play is not to be taken literally - it's a comedy. So sit back, relax, enjoy the show, and remember that scraping boils with a blunt object can be quite painful.

- Jon Deline

Trouble in Paradise

A group of college students get mixed up in the parallels of love as confusion and emotion blend together. A farcical comedy making fun of the ups and downs of love.

- Grayson DeJesus
